Independent Auditors' Report

Bill Bohnyak, Sheriff
Orange County Sheriff's Department
Chelsea, Vermont

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the business-type activities of the Orange County Sheriff's Department of the County of Orange, Vermont, for the period from February 1, 2007 to June 30, 2007, as listed in the table of contents. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Department's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the business-type activities of the Orange County Sheriff's Department of the County of Orange, Vermont, as of June 30, 2007 and the respective changes in financial position and cash flows for the period from February 1, 2007 to June 30, 2007 then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated August 15, 2008 on our consideration of the Orange County Sheriff's Department's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant, agreements and other matters. The purpose of the report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. The report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in conjunction with this report in considering the results of our audit.

Orange County Sheriff's Department has not presented a management's discussion and analysis that accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America has determined is necessary to supplement, although not required to be part of, the basic financial statements.

Orange County Sheriff's Department
Notes to Financial Statements
For the Period from February 1, 2007 to June 30, 2007

(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The Orange County Sheriff's Department (the Department) is a governmental entity operating under Title 24 Vermont Statutes Annotated Section 290 located in the County of Orange, Vermont. Funding is provided by the State of Vermont and the County of Orange. Operating revenue is generated by service charges, some of which are set by state statute and others are set by the Department. Included among the duties performed by the Department are contracting to provide law enforcement services; security services; control dispatching and other centralized support services; service of lawful writs, warrants and processes; and transportation of prisoners and the mentally disabled.

(a) Basis of accounting

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared using the accrual basis of accounting. The Department's revenues are recognized when they are earned, and their expenses are recognized when they are incurred. The Sheriff's Department applied (a) all Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) pronouncements and (b) Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Statements and Interpretations, APB Opinions, and Accounting Research Bulletins issued on or before November 20, 1989, except insignificant items that conflict with GASB pronouncement.

Operating income reported in proprietary fund financial statements includes revenues and expenses related to the primary, continuing operations of the fund. Principal operating revenues for proprietary funds are charges to customers for sales or services. Principal operating expenses are the costs of providing goods or services and include administrative expenses and depreciation of capital assets. Other revenues and expenses are classified as non-operating in the financial statements.

When both restricted and unrestricted resources are available for use, it is the Department's policy to use restricted resources first, then unrestricted resources, as needed.

(b) Basis of presentation

The Department accounts for ongoing operations and activities using proprietary fund accounting, a method developed with the economic resources measurement focus. This focus is similar to accounting methods used in the private sector.

(c) Vehicles and equipment

Vehicles and equipment are recorded at cost with depreciation computed using the straight-line method over their estimated useful lives. When assets are retired or otherwise disposed of, the cost and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any resulting gain or loss is reflected as nonoperating activity for the period. The cost of maintenance and repairs is charged to expense as incurred; renewals and betterments over $1,000 are capitalized.

(e) Use of estimates

The process of preparing financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(f) Accounts receivable

Significant receivables include amounts due from state, town, and contractor contracts. These receivables are due within one year. The Department has not recorded an allowance for uncollectible accounts at June 30, 2007.

(2) Cash and Categories of Risk

There are three categories of credit risk that apply to the Department's balance:

1. Insured by the FDIC or collateralized with securities held by the Department or by the Department's agent in the Department's name.
2. Collateralized with securities held by the pledging financial institution's trust department or agent in the Department's name.

Substantially all grants are subject to financial and compliance audits by the grantors. Any disallowance as a result of these audits becomes a liability of the Department. As of June 30, 2007, management believes that no material liabilities will result from such audits.

Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting and on Compliance and Other Matters Based on an Audit of Financial Statements Performed in Accordance with Government Auditing Standards

Bill Bohnyak, Sheriff
Orange County Sheriff's Department
Chelsea, Vermont

We have audited the financial statements of the business-type activities of the Orange County Sheriff's Department of the County of Orange, Vermont (the Department) for the period from February 1, 2007 to June 30, 2007, which comprise the Orange County Sheriff's Department's basic financial statements, and have issued our report thereon dated August 15, 2008. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller of the United States of America.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit, we considered the Department's internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Department's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Department's internal control over financial reporting.

Our consideration of the internal control over financial reporting was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraph and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in the internal control over financial reporting that might be significant deficiencies or material weaknesses. However, as discussed below, we identified certain deficiencies in internal control over financial reporting that we considered to be significant deficiencies and material weaknesses.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements in a timely manner. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the Department's ability to record, process, summarize, or report financial data reliably in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a likelihood that a misstatement of the Department's financial statements that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the Department's internal control. We consider the deficiencies described in the accompanying schedule of findings and questioned costs to be significant deficiencies in internal control over financial reporting. The significant deficiencies are described in the accompanying schedule of findings and questioned costs as items 2007-01, 2007-02 and 2007-03.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the Department's internal control. We believe the significant deficiencies presented in the accompanying schedule as items 2007-01 and 2007-02 constitute material weaknesses.

Our consideration of the internal control over financial reporting was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph of this section and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in the internal control that might be significant deficiencies or material weaknesses and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all significant deficiencies that are also considered to be material weaknesses.

Compliance and Other Matters

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the Department's financial statements are free of material misstatements, we performed tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit and, accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no instances of noncompliance or other matters that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards.

This communication is intended solely for the information and use of the Department and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

2007-01 Financial Reporting

Meaningful financial reports are the end product of any sound accounting system. They are a crucial tool in assisting management make sound budgeting, financial, and operational decisions. Currently, the Department does not produce any periodic financial reports. The Department's current accounting system has the capabilities to produce a full set of financial statements that can assist the Sheriff in managing the Department. We recommend that the Department institute a written month end closing routine that culminates with the Department bookkeeper reviewing the financial statements with the Sheriff and any other Department management personnel.

Management response: Management agrees with this finding and effective immediately the Sheriff will receive monthly reports from the bookkeeper to review.

2007-02 Revenue Cutoff

As a result of our audit, significant adjustments were required to correct invoices processed near the end of the year to the proper accounting period. A reliable cutoff is critical to ensure the accuracy and reliability of the financials.

We suggest that a review be performed by the bookkeeper to ensure proper cutoff of revenue at month end. We recommend that they implement this review immediately as a routine process.

Management response: Management agrees with this finding and effective immediately all invoices processed will be reviewed for proper cutoff.

2007-03 Segregation of Duties – Cash Disbursements

The Uniform Accounting Manual for the County Sheriff's Departments and a basic tenet of any internal control system requires that a responsible official approve all expenses and disbursements. This approval process shall include written documentation that the Sheriff authorized amounts to be paid.

We noted that several timesheets were missing such approval during the five months ended June 30, 2007. All timesheets should be noted as reviewed and approved prior to payroll processing.

Management response: Management agrees with this finding and effective immediately all timesheets will be reviewed and approved by the Sheriff or his designee.
